ALL READY FOR THE BIG DAY!

Dedication of the Soldier's and Sailors Monument.

AND CURTIN STATUE

Immense Crowds are Expected to Attend Full Program for the Day and Line of Parade---Description of Statue

DECORATORS GETTING IN THEIR WORK

The arrangements for the big time on Friday June 8th are about complete and weather permitting we will see the largest crowd ever in Bellefonte on any previous occasion.

Everything has been cleaned up spic and span around the monument and Court House and it presents a very beautiful appearance. Harry W. Lewis of Pittsburg, a professional unveiler has been awarded the contract to ununveil the monument. It will be done by electricity. That is an electric button will be placed at some convenient point and when pressed will cause veil to fall from the monument and a shower of flags to be thrown into the air.

Miss Margaret Burnett, a granddaughter of Ex.Governor Curtin, has been chosen as the one to unveil the Curtin statue and Miss Helen M. Fox, a daughter of the late Joseph Fox, has been chosen to unveil the Soldiers and Sailors monument.

The monument is built of Barre granite and is semi-circular in shape, being 54 feet from end to end, 28 feet deep and 11 feet high. At either end are large bronze panels representing "War" and "Peace". The monument contains twenty bronze panels on which will be inscribed the names of almost thirty-eight hundred soldiers.

In order that all may know just what will take place next Friday we republish the full program for that day as well as the list of those who will have charge of the parade, either as marshals or aides.

The following route of parade has been determined upon by Gen. Curtin and his staff subject to minor changes which may be made if necessary. Parade will form on Thomas street proceede to High to Allegheny, north on on Allegheny to Linn, east on Linn countermarching to Allegheny public square where the parade will be reviewed by Gov. Pennypacker, south to Bishop, east on Bishop countermarching to Spring, Spring to High, High to bridge countermarching on High to Spring, North on Spring to Armory there to be dismissed.

Owing to the great crowds which will be in town it is requested that streets on line of parade be sprinkled early in the morning if necessary. That our citizens provide vessels with drinking water and tin cups, so that the women and children visitors may be provided for at convenient points. All rubbish should be removed from the line of parade and the town generally cleaned up. This will of course be done, but it is advisable to have that part of the work finished before Friday. In the matter of decoration it is hoped that all buildings public and private on the line of parade be decorated.

DEMOCRACY'S CONVENTION

Held in the Court House at Noon Tuesday.

TAYLOR FOR CONGRESS

Heinle for State Senator Was an Easy Winner Over Robert M. Foster ---John Noll Re-Nominated for the Legislature.

THE DOINGS OF THE UN-TERRIFIED

The Democratic County convention met in the Court House at 12 o'clock noon Tuesday to nominate candidates for county offices and elect delegates to the State convention. It was called to order promptly by County Chairman Hugh S. Taylor. The call for the convention was read by the Secretary H. J. Jackson,

F. P. Musser, of Millheim Journal fame, was elected by acclamation as Permanent Chairman of the convention. He expressed his thanks for the honor conferred and proceeded to business. The organization was completed as follows: A. A. Pletcher, of Howard, reading clerk; George R. Meek and Chas. R Kurtz of Bellefonte were elected Secretaries; A. G. Archey, Pine Grove Mills, and D. Paul Fortney, of Bellefonte, tellers.

The roll of delegates was then called by the reading clerk and there were many absentees.

The first thing in order was to nominate a candidate for congress, H. S. Taylor was named by J. W. Kepler seconded by Robert M. Foster. There were no other nominations and Mr. Taylor was named by acclamation. Chas. R. Kurtz, N. B. Spangler and J. C. Harper were selected as congressional conferees.

For State Senate W. C. Heinle and Robert M. Foster were placed in nomination. Heinle was nominated on the first ballot the vote being Heinle 51½. Foster 23½. Some of Foster's friends tried to raise the question of voting instructions but the chair ruled against them. The powers that be were evidently against the orator from State. The following senatorial conferees were chosen A. Weber, of Howard, Ellis Schaffer, of Miles, and P. J. McDonnel, of Union twp.

The next thing in order was to select a candidate for the legislature. John Keichline who seems to be the only orator the Democrats have named the Hon. John Noll to succeed himself. Noll was nominated by acclamation.

J. Adam Hazel of Axe Mann, was nominated for Jury Commissioner by acclamation, David McCloskey having withdrawn.

George Beezer, of Bellefonte, Jacob Swires of Philipsburg, A. P. Zerby, of Penn, H. G. Deuniger, of Rush, J. C. Meyer, of Bellefonte were placed in nomination for delegates to State Convention. At this point the convention got itself into hot water by attempting to ignore J. C. Meyer. The Taylor forces intended to count him out and they railroaded through a resolution electing the other four. Mr. Meyer although not a delegate arose and demanded a square deal. After much confusion in which the chair ruled against a secret ballot, they proceeded to vote for delegates to the State Convention. The ballot resulted as follows: Beezer, 70; Meyer 29, Deninger 65, Zerby 72, Swires 61. The chair then declared Beezer, Deninger, Zerby and Swires elected.

Capt. Taylor when called on for a speech delivered a regular scolding speech. He hammered the fact in on his hearers that there was harmony in the party, that there was only one faction as he had licked the other faction to a standstill

Senator Heinle then made an address full of the usual clap-trap, blaming every thing on the Republicans.

W. Miles Walker, chairman of the Committee on resolutions, read the same. They indorsed the Democratic platform of 1905. Favor abolishing present ballot system. Favored 2 cent mileage. Restriction of railroads. Endorsed record of Hon. John Noll and Senator Heinle in House and Senate. Applauded record of Democratic Senators in the U. S. Senate etc., etc.

N B Spangler Esq of Bellefonte was elected County Chairman for the year 1907

The committee on resolutions was as follows: W. Miles Walker, Dr. F. K. White, Michael Schaeffer, A. W. Reese, D. J. Kelly. E. C. Riley, and M. D Kelly.

BOYD C. STONERODE IN TROUBLE!

Working at the Key Acquired Valuable Stock—Fooled Detectives for Years.

Friday's Pittsburg Dispatch contains the following:

As an emulator of "Jim the Penman" and a living Jekyl and Hyde, Boyd H. Stonerode, who, as Samuel C. Fletcher, is in the Washington county jail on a charge of forgery, completely fooled the greatest detectives of the United States for years.

He was formerly of Milesburg, Pa. Stonerode lives on Main street, Coraopolis, Pittsburg where he has a wife and three children. Stonerode was respected in that place and every person has a good word for him. His home life was exemplary and the people of Coraopolis were shocked to learn that Stonerode was the man arrested at Ambridge on a charge of trying to defraud the Bentleyville National Bank out of $3,200 by means of a forged letter and check.

Stonerode was a telegraph operator employed in a signal tower of the Wabash railroad near the Greentree tunnel. He only made $60 a month as a telegrapher, but his home was finely furnished. He owns bank and oil stocks and is interested in many concerns. It was only on a "tip" that Detective Cecil G. Rice learned of his real name and address.

In his home at Coraopolis he had a typewriter and when not working was always busy with his machine. By constant practice he became a competent typist, and his family never knew where and for what reason he wrote so many letters. Generally about two days after the letters were written he would be absent from home for a time and that is thought to be when he made "hauls."

Stonerode is a fine penman. His friends say he can use 12 different styles of handwriting, each one distinct. One of his feats is the writing of the Lord's Prayer on his thumb nail, so that it can be read without much difficulty.

Through his operations, it is alleged Stonerode was enabled to buy bank and oil stocks. His favorite victims were the banks. Holding some of their stocks it was not hard for him to get some of their stationery and the signatures. The latter were learned rapidly and then Stonerode, it is alleged, would make a "killing." Of all the money he got he never squandered any and among his holdings are 10 shares of stock of the Columbia Savings & Trust Company of Pittsburg.

Stonerode would mail his letters by the railway postoffice and in that way avoided suspicion and after the letter had time to get to its pestination he would follow as per the contents of the letter and get the money. He is a steady worker and except for an occasional visit to relatives, as he claimed, lasting two or three days, he was always at his keys.

Stonerode always worked alone. That is what deceived the detectives for years. They expected the man who was defrauding banks in that manner was an expert confidence man and a "good" crook, but never had any idea it was a telegraph operator who played his daring cards alone.

Cashier J. T. Neill of the Bentleyville National Bank last evening lodged an additional information against Fletcher, charging him with forgery. The bail tomorrow on account of the additional charge will be raised to $6,000.

The Annual Reception at the Academy.

The Annual Reception and Assembly of the Bellefonte Academy will take place this year on Thursday evening June 14.

The reception will be given at the Academy from 7:30 until 10 o'clock. A most cordial welcome to this reception is extended to all past and present patrons and students and to all others who consider themselves friends of this institution.

A special invitation is also extended to the County Superintendent, the directors and teachers of the Bellefonte public schools and the members of the class of 1906 of the High Schools. The only invitations issued to this reception are those appearing in the newspapers.

The annual assembly given under the auspices of the Alumni and the undergraduates will take place in the armory as usual at ten o'clock. Those wishing to attend this event will confer with Mr. Wilson Gephart or Mr. Hallie Jacobs.

Both of these Academy functions will have good music and promise to be most delightful events. Further information will be given later.

37th ANNUAL CONVENTION

Of the Centre County Sabbath School Association.

HELD AT HOWARD, PA.

On Thursday and Friday May 31st. and June 1st—Address of Welcome by Rev. J. F. Shultz Responded to by Rev. C. C. Bingham.

SOME EXCELLENT ADDRESSES MADE

Howard, Pa., May 31st. 1906.—The 37th Annual Convention of the Centre Co., Sabbath School Association began Thursday afternoon in the M. E. church at 2 o'clock. A large and enthusiastic congregation of Sabbath School work from the various parts of Centre county assembled for the purpose of carrying out the work for which the convention was called.

After a spirited service of song led by the choir under the direction of Mr. W. F. Hall of Howard, Rev. J. F. Shultz, of Howard read the 12th chapter of Romans and offered the opening prayer. Singing followed and then Rev. Shultz on behalf of the community, its churches and people most heartily welcomed the convention, expressing the gratification of the people at having such a convention in their midst. Rev. C. C. Bingham of Runville responded on behalf of the convention speaking of the gladness of the delegates at being present and their helpful expectation of a blessed convention. Following singing, President C. L. Gramley formally opened the convention in a neat address.

The State Primary Superintendent, Ermina C. Lincoln of Philadelphia, was then introduced and spoke on the subject "A Good Beginning." The "Good Beginning" was the cradle roll and "Beginners Department" work of the Sunday School. She opened with a symposium on the reason for, and the help to the work which a cradle roll brings, this was participated in by Rev. A. M. Schmidt, Rev. J. H. Higby, Mrs. A. S. Price, Rev. C. F. Irwin and others. Her address was inspiring and hopeful and was listened to with rapt attention.

Rev. James B. Stein of Bellefonte was then introduced and spoke on "The Responsibility of the Sunday School Teacher." The address which unfolded the subject from a study of the words of which the topic was composed was replete with practical teaching. It was thoughtful, scholarly and helpful.

Following this address the President appointed the committee on enrollment, Finance, nominations and Resolutions.

The last topic for the afternoon was a most practical one on, "How can our Association become more helpful to our local schools." This subject was opened by Rev. W. H. Schuyler of Centre Hall. In his instructive address he emphasized the importance of taking the message the association gives to the home people. Rev. Chas. F. Irwin, State Field Worker, of Belleview, Pa. continued the discussion in an excellent and interesting address in which he pressed upon the delegates the thought of the responsibility and duty of delegates to get something out of the convention and give it to others. After singing the doxology, Rev. H. I. Crow dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

The evening session began at 7.40 o'clock with a hearty and enthusiastic song service. Rev. H. C. Bixler of Rebersburg read the 148th Psalm and led in prayer. Singing followed, the offering was lifted and more delegates were enrolled.

Miss Ermina C. Lincoln in an address on, "Christ's Representative—the S. S. Teacher" interested and impressed the large audience present with a deep consciousness with their need of a large knowledge of Christ the Word, and the child in order to rightly represent Jesus.

Rev. C. F. Irwin in an address that was full of stimulus and inspiration spoke of, "The Great Teacher in the Midst of His Class," basing his remarks on Matt. 5-1. He held forth Christ's way in winning his disciples as an example to us in our mission of winning souls to Christ. Rev. A. C. Lathrop led in

DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

High School Juniors Do Themselves Proud.

The annual Declamatory contest of the Bellefonte High School was held in the Petrikin Hall Monday evening June 4th and as usual there was a large attendance.

The exercises were in charge of Prof. Jonas Wagner and were very successful indeed. When the curtain arose it disclosed the class setting in a semicircle on the stage. The stage and surrounding were very beautifully decorated with the colors of the class of '07 and all about the stage were massed beautiful flowers and potted plants.

The Bellefonte orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Christy Smith furnished the music which as usual was fine.

The contest was for the Reynolds prize given by Col. W. Fred Reynolds The 1st prize was $10 in gold and the 2nd $5 in gold. All the young contestants acquitted themselves well. The program was as follows:

The Crimson Shroud of Olaf Guldmar; Marie Corelli—Isabel C. Merriman.

The Mysterious Portrait; George Japy—Ivah M. Meyer.

Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata—Harriette E. Ray.

An Easter with [illegible]repa; Myra S. Delano—Helen K[illegible]

MUSIC.

The Hero of the Day; Anonymous—Elizabeth C. Barnhart.

The Sacrifice of Genius; E. S. Hickens—S. Helen Stover.

The Peril of the Republic; Henry W Davis—Clair Seibert.

MUSIC.

The Gold Louis: Adapted—Elsie Bidwell.

The "Little David" of Nations; William C. Duncan—Blair Fisher.

The Thunder Storm; George D. Prentice—Leah D. Wooson.

After the last one had spoken it was up to the judges to give their decision and right difficult task they had as all the declamations were well delivered. The judges were Rev. J. I. Stonecypher, Dr. Ralph E. Myers and Prof. Franklin T. Cole.

They finally announced their decision giving the [illegible] prize to Miss S. Helen Stover, and the other to Miss Leah D. Woodson.

Death of Mrs. Mary M. Dale.

Mrs. Mary M. Dale died very suddenly at her home in Lemont Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Death was probably due to heart disease. She was found dead in her bed-room by a member of her household.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Mitchell, was the daughter of John Mitchell, deceased, and was born on the old Mitchell farm in College township seventy-five years ago last March. She was married to William Dale, a well known resident of the county, who proceeded her to the grave several years ago. Her only son, John M. Dale, Esq., died a few years ago. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church at Lemont and a very lovely christian character.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. W. K. Harnish will officiate. Interment in the Branch cemetery.

Married.

Mr. Rodger G. Williams of Martha and Miss Helen L. Stevens, of Unionville, were quietly married in the presence of a few friends on the evening of June 3rd. at Martha, Pa., by Rev. A. C. Lathrop. The contracting parties are both well known young people and held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. The groom is the son of Mr. Abednego Williams a prosperous farmer of Martha. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Stevens who reside on Dix Run. They will begin housekeeping at once at the Williams homestead where the groom is engaged in farming. Many friends join in extending congratulations.

A Fine Oration.

A. A. Dale Esq., of Bellefonte, was the Memorial Day orator at Philipsburg, and the people out there were highly pleased with his efforts. In speaking of the exercises the Philipsburg Ledger alludes to Mr. Dale's address as follows: "The evening services were held in the Lutheran church and A. A. Dale Esq., the orator of the day, made what was pronounced by many, the best Memorial Day address ever delivered in Philipsburg. Mr. Dale surprised even his best friends by his eloquence on this occasion.

ENTERPRISING BOTANISTS.

Effects of the Great Revival of the Sixteenth Century.

In the great literary and scientific revival that took place in the sixteenth century botany made a fresh departure. The discovery of America had brought a vast number of new plants to Europe, and their study doubtless stimulated the more complete study of those of the old world. The great commercial activity of the century must also have had its influence. Ships were bringing new products from all parts and among these plants were not forgotten. But from whatever cause it arose, the great impulse and renewed activity in the discovery and study of plants was quite remarkable. They produced a large body of students, whose labors were unwearied, and a wonderful amount of botanical literature.

Among those students were such men as Loincer, L'Obel, Caesalpinus, L'Ecluse, Mattioli, Caspar and John Bauhin, Conrad Gesner, Pona, Leonard, Fuchs, Prosper Alpinus, Dodoens and many others. And these men were not stay at home botanical students. They were great travelers, whose delight was to collect and examine plants in their native countries. Caspar Bauhin collected them in Germany, France and Italy with great labor and danger ("quod praecipuum erat, plantas locis natalibus inspiciendo nullis laboribus, nullis molestiis, nullis sumptibus peper cimus"); L'Ecluse collected them in Spain, Hungary and Bohemia; Du Choul searched Mount Pilatus and John Pona Mount Baldus; Leonard Rauwolf made a long journey to the east in search of them and Prosper Alpinus examined those of Egypt.—London Standard.

FLORIDA'S INDIAN WAR.

Osceola's Half Breed Wife Brought About the Conflict.

In 1835 a young woman, with a party of Indians visiting Fort King, was seized and carried off as a fugitive slave on the ground that her mother was an escaped slave who had taken refuge with the Indians many years before. That her father was an Indian and she had been raised an Indian did not count for anything. Legal claim of ownership in the mother embraced her also. That was law at the time.

Naturally the young husband, untutored savage that he was, could not recognize its justice. Proving both eloquent and brave, he soon had every Indian in Florida on the warpath, nor was it long before his name, Osceola, was heard with terror in the exposed white settlements. There ensued a war, long, costly and bloody, out of all proportions to the number engaged. It is probable the Indians did not number 1,500 warriors, but in the four years required to conquer them 1,500 white lives were sacrificed.

With the Indians it was a battle a outrance. They had many wrongs to avenge, which lost nothing in the fervid coloring of Osceola's eloquence. Defeat meant transportation to an unknown country far toward the setting sun. Osceola claimed to have been the friend of the white man until white treachery and cupidity culminated in the seizure of his wife. In digging up the tomahawk he preached a war of extermination till every white man was driven from Florida or every Indian died in the attempt.—Lippincott's.

Fair Rosamund's Bower.

Henry III.'s chief garden was at Woodstock, but he was not the originator of it, as there had been a garden there in the time of the second Henry. In it was the labyrinth which concealed the "bower" made famous by the tragic fate of the fair Rosamond. A halo of romance and mystery hangs around this hiding place, but in reality labyrinths were by no means uncommon. There is evidence of the existence of labyrinths in very early times, and they presumably suggested the maze of more modern date. The first labyrinths were winding paths cut in the ground, and the survival of them is still traceable in several places in England. Of these Saffron Walden, with its encircling ditch, is the most striking example. Camden describes one existing in his time in Dorsetshire, which went by the name of Troy town or Julian's bower.—"A History of Gardening In England."

Machinery of Memory.

The machinery of memory was thus interestingly described by an authority on the brain: "The act of remembering something," he said, "involves a distinct change in the brain substance. The thing to be remembered is recorded by a little nerve cell. The first time the cell does its work an impression is made upon it. But that impression is apt to wear off unless the action of the cell is repeated, and the oftener this is the case the more fixed becomes the impression, or 'cell memory,' as it is called. Suppose that the work of this particular cell is to enable you to recognize a certain smell. If the impression is made but once, the cell may fail to retain it, but if it is repeated several times a lasting impression will be made, and you will recognize the particular odor when you meet with it again."

It is the privilege of posterity to set matters right between those antagonists who by their rivalry for greatness divided a whole age.—Addison.

BIRD AND BEAST.

Battle Between a Hawk and a Big Black Dog Mink.

Silent as an owl in the black of night, the hawk glided low on whist wings across the little open space cleared by the fallen maple, paused an almost imperceptible instant above the unlistening squirrel, and then, wings closed, dropped upon him with unerring talons. But for some strange reason the harrier seemed powerless to bear away his kill; while his angry, frightened screams drowned out the dying squeak of the squirrel, he strove with great rattling wing strokes to get purchase on the air, but could not. Over and over again he struck downward with his beak, apparently at the squirrel, though of this, because of the blur of his whipping wings, I could not be sure. In a moment he half toppled forward, and then, like a huge broken winged partridge, he flopped about among the tangled coils of roots, uttering meanwhile shrill screech on screech that seemed fairly to lacerate his throat. In but little more than it takes to tell it a dozen kingbirds had gathered, and were buzzing round the struggling harrier like gadflies round a horse, adding their spiteful cries to his harsh din; now a crow appeared out of nowhere and searched deep in his throat for his hoarest cry; blue jays flashed across the clearing and back again in a frenzy of clamorous excitement; a swarm of chattering blackbirds rushed into the tree above me till its branches sagged and creaked like those of a laboring tree overweighted with fruit—all in an instant bedlam was let loose round that old wind wrecked maple.

Under cover of the uproar I crept nearer and saw that a big black dog mink, his bulldog jaws clamped on the upper leg of the harrier, was grimly fighting to pull him down from behind, while the harrier, with the speed of terror and hate, sought desperately to reach his assailant with his beak. It looked as if the mink must win, for the harrier was perceptibly weakening in his vain counter attack; but a sudden lift with the harrier's long wings half tore the mink from his hold and swung him for one brief moment within distance of that rending beak. Rip; a big red gash gaped open on the mink's writhing flank, and he let go and tumbled back among the roots. Up leaped the hawk, his pearly white breast streaked and blotched with blood from his wounded leg. Like magic the cries of all but the kingbirds were hushed, while, still screaming with rage and hurt, the hawk rose heavily skyward and marked his course athwart the wind for the shelter of the woods.—Harold S. Deming in Harper's Magazine.

Persian Dramatics.

A traveler, speaking of some of the oddities of Persian customs when viewed with occidental eyes, said:

"Depending as we do upon illusion and scenic effects in our theaters, the presentation of a Persian play by native performers strikes the westerner as little short of ridiculous, the extreme solemnity of all concerned making the appeal to hilarity all the stronger. In one of their favorite miracle plays the prophet is supposed to ascend to heaven, and this dramatic incident is accomplished by the very simple expedient of drawing him up from the stage and out of sight with a block and tackle. The tackle is attached to his belt by an attendant in plain view of the audience. So strong, however, is the imaginative power in the oriental that many of the onlookers will be observed weeping openly."—Harper's Weekly.

The Gardener.

It is at once the joy and the despair of a gardener that his work is never done. His materials are growing, changing, ever varying things. This is an endless delight to a man who lives with his garden and watches his plans grow up. When he makes a garden for another it is a different matter. Then, after spending his best thought and skill, the garden must be turned over into the hands of the Philistine, who may, doubtless will, spoil his color effects, make gaudy what before was rich, introduce tawdry display where before was a sensitive delicacy. These are the things that try men's souls and will continue to try them until the owners of large places acquire some degree of sympathy with and understanding of art.—Century.

Child's View of Art.

A lover of rare old china had a collection that was the envy of her visitors. One day a little girl came with her mother for a call, and, being seated in the living room, wonderingly eyed the array of antique dishes. The hostess was much pleased at the child's evident admiration of her treasures and said, "Well, my dear, what do you think of my china?" The child looked up, and pity was in her eyes as she asked, "Hasn't you dot any pantry?"

Not Matched.

"Mustache cups?" said the salesman. "Yes, sir. Here's a pretty design. Cup and saucer $1.98."

"But," said Mr. Nurich, "that ain't the saucer that goes with it."

"Oh, yes."

"Not much it ain't. There ain't no mustache guard on it."—Philadelphia Press.

Unnecessary.

"Monsieur," said the duelist's second, "all is ready. Let me shake your hand."

"Voila!" exclaimed the duelist, with chattering teeth. "Can you not see eet ees shake too much as eet ees?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

A COAT OF ARMS.

How One May Be Acquired For a Consideration In England.

The practice of granting arms is still in vogue in England, Ireland, Scotland, Austria, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Germany, etc., and at times the pope, as sovereign pontiff, exercises the power.

Indeed, it is by patent or grant alone that a new family can legitimately acquire a coat of arms.

The modus operandi in England, for example, is as follows: The applicant for a patent of arms (from the crown) may employ any member he pleases of the heralds' college and through him present a memorial to the earl marshal of England, who acts for the crown in these matters, setting forth that he, the memorialist, is not entitled to arms or cannot prove his right to such and praying that his grace the earl marshal will issue his warrant to the kings of arms, authorizing them to grant and confirm to him due and proper armorial ensigns, to be borne according to the laws of heraldry by him and his descendants. This memorial is presented and a warrant is issued by the earl marshal, under which a patent of arms is made out, exhibiting a painting of the armorial ensigns granted, the royal arms of England, the arms of the earl marshal and those of the college and describing in official terms the proceedings that have taken place and a correct blazon of the arms. This patent is registered in the books of the heralds' college and receives the signatures of the garter and one or both of the provincial kings of arms.

A grant or patent of arms is made to a man and his male descendants. This gives him a fee simple of them—that is to say, to him and to his male descendants equally and altogether and to his female descendants in a qualified manner—i. e., for life, to bear the arms in a lozenge or impaled with their husbands' arms (if the husbands have arms), as arms can only be brought in by arms, or, if they be heiresses or coheiresses, on an escutcheon of pretense upon their husbands' shields, and in the last case their descendants inherit such maternal arms, but only as a quartering.—Nineteenth Century.

SMUGGLING.

It Was Considered a Legitimate Pursuit In Days Gone By.

A book by J. C. Wright entitled "In the Good Old Times" throws some interesting light on the ways of days gone by: "Of every three pounds of tea it was said that two were contraband. In fact, smuggling was considered a perfectly legitimate pursuit. Everybody was ready to profit by it, from the squire, who filled his cellars with cheap wine, and his wife, who adorned herself in cheap silks, to the shopkeeper, who got cheap groceries, or the laborer, who got high wages for work that was secret, unlawful and perilous. Even Adam Smith confessed to a weakness for smuggling and nobody was above bargaining to have a pipe or a hogshead put in his cellar at a low figure. But smuggling on a large scale was not carried on without bribery, perjury, informing, violence and murder."

Of the old time London watchman: "He was wrapped in a wide skirted heavy coat, a useful garment for protecting him from the cold, but not adapted to enable him to cope with the bullies who assaulted the weak and unprotected. He wore low shoes and a big broad brimmed hat, which could be turned up or down, worn forward or backward. The only means of defense which the watchman seems to have possessed was a staff something like a beadle's. In his left hand he carried his lantern."

In those primitive times pins were manufactured by hand and went through several stages of manufacture: Worker No. 1 formed the wire, No. 2 cut it into lengths, No. 3 smoothed it, the fourth man made the head, the fifth stuck it on, the sixth ground the point, the seventh washed and dried it, and it had to go through three more hands after that; hence it used to be a familiar proverb, "It takes ten men to make a pin."

Queer Judicial Decisions.

Some queer judicial decisions in Victoria are mentioned in the Australian Review of Reviews. A man who embezzled some money from a bank has received a sentence of nearly three years' imprisonment, while a man who murdered his mother by stabbing her to the heart received only one year, and another man, who shot his sister and killed her, was sentenced to only two years, and immediately after that a man who wrote a letter to another man threatening to kill him received three years' imprisonment.

Schoolboy Answers.

Here are some assertions from compositions by American schoolboys: "Franklin's father was a tallow chandelier." "The climate of North America is embracing." "This song is in the key of B flap." "There are five bowels—a, e, i, o and u." "The snow is painting the town white." "He lived in Cambridgepork." "Man is in the muscular gender because it denotes a male." "They went to the foolish (Polish) church." Question: "What is geography?" Answer: "Geography is round, like a ball."

Era of Actium.

The "era of Actium," adopted during the early days of the Roman empire, commemorates the great victory gained by Octavius over the troops of Antony and Cleopatra, Jan. 1, B. C. 30. It was often used among the Romans both in writing and colloquially, just as in England people speak of events as occurring before or after the conquest, or as persons in this country frequently refer to events as having happened before or after the war.

Rool of Honor

"Good Housekeeping," a well known household national magazine voluntarily made a thorough examination and test of None-Such Mince Meat, and placed it without reservation upon its roll of honor.

In the March number of Good Housekeeping, in the department of "Pure Food Assurance," we find

"None-Such Mince Meat, Merrill-Soule Co., Syracuse, a semi-moist condensed compound of beef, apples, spices, sugar, raisins, currants, boiled cider and salt, without other preservatives or adulterants, no artificial coloring, produced under conditions as near to sanitary perfections as possible."

This guarantee, which could not be bought at any price, ought to satisfy the most particular house-wife. The sale of one million packages a month seems to prove the statement to be true. Your grocer sells None-Such. Try it, and satisfy yourself. You are the one.

Southern Wit.

In the early days of the civil war, says Mrs. D. G. Wright in "A Southern Girl In '61," many northern senators were especially violent in their denunciations of the seceding states, occasionally much to the amusement of their listeners.

On one occasion a western senator ended a speech by declaring that were certain threatened events to occur he would "leave this country and join some other nation. Even the Comanches he would prefer to this government in such a case."

Senator Wigfall of Texas rose in answer and stated in a tone of grave remonstrance that he trusted the senator would consider well before he took such a step, "for the Comanches had already suffered too much from contact with the whites."

Sidney Krumrine Sells Hyomei Under Guarantee of Cure.

The changeable weather of Spring is directly responsible for the prevalence of catarrhal troubles in Bellefonte at the present time.

As a result Sidney Krumrine had a larger sale for Hyomei the past week than ever before in the years that he has handled this reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

If there is a single catarrhal germ in the system, Hyomei will search it out and absolutely destroy it, completely eradicating the trouble. The remedy has made so many cures among Sidney Krumrine's customers that he offers to pay for it himself if it does not benefit even the worst case of catarrh

The complete outfit costs only $1, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hyomei, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. There will not be even this small expense if Hyomei does not cure, as Sidney Krumrine will return your money.

DRUM OF BUNKER HILL.

Veteran of Three Wars, It Still Beats For Bay State G. A. R.

This is a plain, unvarnished tale of a drum. It is a common, ordinary drum in appearance, but it has seen more history than any man living. It has helped to make America. Here is its story:

Away back in the years when there were some rebellious English colonies in America the maker of musical instruments to his majesty King George fashioned a kettledrum. It chanced to find its way to a regiment of redcoats which crossed the Atlantic to subdue a revolution of his majesty's disloyal subjects.

There was a battle one day at a place called Bunker Hill. For some cause or other the redcoats were defeated. "The British regulars fired and fled," as the poet says, and to quicken their flight they threw away such impedimenta as knapsacks and muskets.

The drummer of a retreating regiment dropped his instrument in his haste, and it was picked up by American soldiers. Straws were drawn for the drum, and it fell to the lot of Levi Smith, who beat it through many fights and marches until the United States of America had thrown off their yoke.

Peace reigned for years until the British sought trouble again in 1812. Volunteers were called out, and Israel Smith, the sturdy son of Levi Smith, enlisted as drummer in a Massachusetts command and hurried to the defense of the national capital, beating his father's drum.

A new generation of men rolled around before the drum entered service again. This time it was the war of the rebellion that called for fighting men, and among those who responded was Israel Smith 2d, grandson of the drummer of Bunker Hill.

In the Thirty-third Massachusetts regiment band Israel Smith drummed through four years of fighting in the Twentieth corps, under General Hooker, marching with Sherman to the sea. A bullet pierced the woodwork of the drum, but left Israel Smith unharmed. Constant beating in three wars had worn the drumhead through, but clever craftsmen patched the instrument up as good as new, and, with the exception of these slight renovations, the drum is the same drum that left the instrument maker's shop in London a century and a half ago.

Israel Smith presented the drum to G. A. R. post 190 of New Bedford, Mass., and in every Memorial day parade in which post 190 marches it is carried proudly at its head. When the post shall have become extinct the drum will return to the heirs of Israel Smith, who will present it to the National museum at Washington.—Philadelphia Press.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN.

His Mother Knew Why He Was There In the Fight at Manila.

Soon after the close of the Spanish war Admiral Schley visited Bangor, Me. General Joseph Smith tendered him a reception, to which many of the townspeople were invited. The people gathered from far and near, and the streets were filled with those who wished to get a glimpse of the admiral.

Mrs. Pearsons lives directly opposite General Smith's house, and the piazza and the steps of her house were crowded when up the steps came Mrs. Casey, a comely Irish woman, clutching something tightly in her hand. Coming up to Mrs. D., who was seated on the piazza, she held out her hand, and in the palm lay a bronze medal, which was given to her son for services rendered at Manila.

"If ye please, will ye read what it says?" she asked, and Mrs. D. read:

"To the Man Behind the Gun."

"That's him," exclaimed Mrs. Casey; "that's him; that's my son! He got there for safety, and could ye blame him, now?"—Boston Globe.

The Burial of the Guns.

"At the close of the seven days' battle, our battery being obliged to fall back," relates a veteran of the Wilderness, "the men discovered to their dismay that two of the gun carriages were so disabled as to necessitate leaving the cannon behind. These were hastily buried and a rough cross of wood placed over each, with suitable if not felicitous inscriptions, including age, date of demise—nothing being left undone which would give verisimilitude to the proceedings and serve to prevent the Confederates from digging them up. This was regarded as a joke on the enemy similar to the one, often perpetrated, when we mounted logs on impromptu ramparts to convey an impression of more cannon than we had."—Chicago Tribune.

The English Police.

In the conduct of the police department in an English city we find a striking comparison with our American notion of police work. In Manchester, as in London, the policeman is always the servant of the public. As in London, he carries neither club nor revolver. His duties are very nearly the same as those of a New York officer. It is in his method of doing his work that the striking difference lies. He is always quiet, always neat, always respectful, even deferential, in his treatment of the public. Such overbearing manners as we sometimes see in New York policemen would not be tolerated in Manchester—or in London, for that matter.—Success.

Sarcastic.

Barber (pausing in the mutilation)—Will you have a close shave, sir? Victim (with a groan)—If I get out of this chair alive, I shall certain consider it such.

THE FIRST AIR BRAKE.

What It Did When Westinghouse Finally Won a Trial.

Persons who should have known better thought Westinghouse visionary when they were told that he proposed to stop a train by air. Nobody seemed inclined to let him try his plan on a real train, but they did not object to his working a model of it in a shop where he couldn't do any harm or involve anybody else in expense. He knew his scheme would work, but he could not make any one else believe it. So he continued to sell his invention for replacing derailed cars on the tracks and to talk about his brake to any railroad man who was willing to listen.

"Well, have you ever stopped a train with this air thing of yours?" they would ask.

No, he couldn't say that he had done so. Nobody would let him try it even on a train of dump cars.

One day he arrived in Pittsburg, selling his other invention and talking about his brake notion to a man connected with a railroad out there. "That's a great idea of yours," said the man. "We will try it on our line."

So the officials of this railroad permitted Westinghouse to put his new "kickshaw" on one of their trains. But he had to agree to indemnify the road for any damage that might be caused to the train as the result of the trials. The train was equipped. On the designated day the confident inventor and a group of skeptical railway men boarded the train on which the first air brakes were fixed. Off went the train on its trial trip. The engineer put on full speed, and just as he had rounded a curve he saw ahead, at a grade crossing and in the middle of the track, a loaded wagon, a man and a boy and a balky horse. The engineer moved his little lever, and the first train that was ever stopped by air pulled up at a standstill several feet short of the obstruction.

Thus, on its first trial, the Westinghouse air brake saved life and prevented damage to property. Thenceforward talking was unnecessary; all that had to be done was to make brakes. The inventor thought of that clause securing compensation to the railroad for any damage he might do to the train, and he laughed. His fortune dated from that day. He was then only twenty-two.—Arthur Warren in Success.

Missing "Carmen."

One of the most popular operas of the present day, "Carmen," underwent an unfortunate experience, but achieved success too late, alas, to console the disappointed composer, whose death was accelerated, it is said, by the ill reception accorded to his chef d'oeuvre. "Carmen" was, in fact, actually hissed off the stage on its first performance in Paris in 1875, and poor Bizet died shortly after, unable to foresee the great success in store for his latest and best work, whose stirring music so admirably fits the thrilling Spanish libretto it illustrates.—Cornhill Magazine.

Fame.

It is an indiscreet and troublesome ambition that cares so much about fame, about what the world says of us; to be always looking in the faces of others for approval; to be always anxious about the effect of what we do or say; to be always shouting to hear the echoes of our own voices.—Longfellow.

Laws are like cobwebs—if any trifling or powerless thing falls into them they hold it fast, while if it is something weightier it breaks through them and is off.—Solon.

"What a difference in the suffering at time of childbirth when Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicines are used," writes Mrs. Edmon Jacobs, of Bargersville, Johnson Co., Ind. "I had not heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines three years ago when I was confined, so had to suffer almost death. Before baby was born I could not be on my feet without two persons holding me. The baby was a boy, weighing 9¾ pounds, and for some weeks after his birth I suffered severe pain. Last fall, following the advice of a neighbor, my husband bought me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I took during the winter, and in March, I gave birth to a baby boy, weighing 10¾ lbs. I was only in labor two hours and was on my feet without help until thirty minutes before baby was born. He is now three months old and weighs 19 lbs. I know it was Dr. Pierce's medicine that saved me from suffering. I advise all women to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, also his 'Pleasant Pellets,' if necessary."

"The advice of a neighbor."

"Following the advice of a neighbor." What a weight of confirmatory evidence there is in those six words. The neighbor had tried the "Favorite Prescription" and recommended it. Mrs. Jacobs has also tried it and proved its wonderful properties and now she recommends it. Beside such testimony as this its maker's words are unimportant. Mrs. Jacobs' experience is a fact. Her neighbor's experience is a fact. The written experiences of 500,000 other women are facts. There is no theory about it. There can be no question about it. In every neighborhood in this broad land there are women who have been cured by the "Favorite Prescription." It has cured more cases of female complaint than all other medicines for women combined. It is the only medicine of its kind invented by a skilled specialist in medicine—a regularly graduated physician of more than forty years' actual experience.

A Peculiar Animal With a Sort of Human Appearance.

There used to be traditions among the sailors of mermaids at sea, half women and half fish, and there are fishes which may have given rise to the belief, from their resemblance to human beings. One of these is called the man fish.

This animal inhabits the mouths of the Amazon, Orinoco and other South American rivers. Its name (manatee) has reference to the peculiar form of its swimming paws. These are composed of soft parts and a membrane which infolds the bones of the hands and fingers. But in the manatee four flat nails are seen attached to the edge of the paw.

The tail also is peculiar, being about one-fourth the length of the body and oval shaped, not unlike that of the otter. The head is round, attached to the body without a neck. The muzzle, in which the nostrils are placed, is large and fleshy, the upper lip cleft and bristled at the side, the lower lip much shorter and the mouth small.

When seen at a distance, with the anterior part of the body out of the water, they are sometimes taken for some creature approaching to human shape. The effect has been deepened by the thickset hairs of the muscle, giving somewhat the appearance of human hair or a beard. Thus the Spanish and the Portuguese give the manatee a name which signifies woman fish, and the Dutch call it the dudong baardmannetze or little bearded man.

FISHING BOATS SEIZED

Crews Thrown Into Mexican Prisons and Cargo Rotting.

Galveston, Texas, May [illegible].—Manager Munn, of the Gulf Fisheries company, of this city, received dispatches from the Warren Fish company, of Pensacola, Fla., stating that the firm had just received word from their fishing smack Sallie Stein, seized by a Mexican gunboat last week, stating that 10 men taken from the schooner were held in prison, and communication with the American consul was absolutely denied them. The cargo of fish, in the meantime, is rotting.

Manager Munn succeeded in getting a cablegram to the captain of his company's detained smack, taken at the same time the Pensacola and Mobile boats were seized, stating that nothing can now be learned from the officer, and it is feared that his crew has been thrown into prison and denied communication with the American consul.

Manager Munn communicated with Senator Culberson and requested him to reach the state department and secure necessary action. All the boats were loaded with fish when seized.

Two Policemen Shot by Negroes.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May [illegible].—Policemen E. J. Daugherty and Amos Hayden were fired upon by a gang of negroes and both officers wounded. Hayden was only slightly hurt, but Dougherty's condition is critical. Four negroes were arrested. Excitement is high. There is talk of lynching.

Tobacco In America.

Caricaturists in depicting a German are in the habit of putting a big pipe in his mouth. The pipe is national indeed, but the Germans as a nation are far from being the greatest smokers. They do not smoke more than Frenchmen, Russians, Swedes or Hungarians. The men of the United States and the men of Switzerland are the most inveterate smokers in the world. In these two countries the consumption of tobacco per head is three times greater than in Germany.

The Bright Spots.

No man knows his strength or his weakness till occasion proves them. If there be some thoughts and actions of his life from the memory of which a man shrinks with shame, surely there are some which he may be proud to own and remember—forgiven injuries, conquered temptations (now and then) and difficulties vanquished by endurance.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

If the people of this great county of Centre have got it into their heads that the days of the party boss are over, they are sadly mistaken. All they would have had to do, to dispel the illusion, would have been to attend the Democratic County Convention held in the Court House last Tuesday. If there ever was an exhibition of one man power given in old Centre, that was the exact time, and that the exact spot. The man of the hour was Hughey Set down-on-his-fellow democrats Taylor, the big boss of them all. When he cracked his whip, they all danced, and from the start off to the finish it was Taylor! Taylor! Taylor!. It is true Cal. Myer, Bob Foster, Will Kepler, Doc White and Pete Meek tried to show a little independence, but they were sat down on so completely that the little showing they did make was pitiful. Pete Meek was so disgusted that he refused to leave his seat in the rear of the hall except to substitute the name of Francis Speer for A. Y. Wagner as delegate from the West Ward. The Taylor forces tried to throw him a "sop" by making him secretary, but it was no go. He could not be bought that cheaply and refused to serve. Editor Musser was Taylor's presiding officer and whenever the Foster-Meek-Meyer crowd tried to get their heads above water, Hughey Set-on-them Taylor would give Musser the nod and the chair would rule against them.

The crowning humiliation of all however was put upon J. C. Meyer when they attempted to railroad through a resolution naming Beezer, Daniker, Zerby and Swires as delegates to the State convention, utterly ignoring the fact, that Meyer, had been placed in nomination by a delegate from Penns Valley. At this point Mr. Meyer arose and in a voice choked with emotion, demanded a square deal, and after some red hot arguments, the chair assented, and a vote was taken. It was no use as Taylor had his forces to well in hand and armed with their little pieces of paper, with their instructions on, they voted the ring candidates in and Meyer out.

Take it altogether it was a great day for the democratic party and—TAYLOR.

The ease with which the Taylor machine eliminated Hon. "Bob" Foster and J. C. Meyer, and relegated them to the ranks of non-combatants was a surprise to those gentlemen and their friends in the "unbossed" democratic convention of Tuesday. Everything is coming Taylor's way and he will permit no impediments or obstructions in the stream. When a fellow needs discipline, painful though it be, Hughey gives it to him good and plenty. He spreads himself over the County, and pastures politically, where he listeh except on the Heinle preserves. He has many able lieutenants and he runs his conventions with the least possible friction. Keichlines peerless eloquence and desecated english was one of the pleasant surprises. The burden of nominating the two candidates from the South Ward, Heinle and Noll, fell on him and he acquitted himself to his own satisfaction.

37 Annual convention

prayer especially remembering the large number of teachers present. After singing and announcements Rev G. W. McIlnay closed the evening session with prayer and benediction.

Friday morning the convention was opened at 8.30 with a spiritual devotional service led by Rev. E. E. Haney of Spring Mills, a large audience assembled. After reading and approval of the minutes the report of the Executive Committee was given by the secretary. This report set forth the condition within the County in the 168 schools enrolled. A feature of importance was the selection and unanimous endorsement by the convention, of Secretary Lathrop for Field Worker during the month of July. The Treasurer's report showed a balance from last year of $631, and that 80 schools had reported up to this time with offerings for this year. The primary and normal superintendents reported showing marked progress in their important departments. The report of the committee on nominations was read and the election of officers followed, resulting in the following selections: President, Prof. C. L. Gramley, Vice-President, Rev. W. H. Schuyler, Secretary, Rev. A. C. Lathrop; Treasurer, Mr. A. Lockenbach; Primary and Junior Superintendent, Mrs. H. W. Kreamer; Normal Superintendent, Mr. T. M. Gramley; Home Department Superintendent, Rev. A. M. Schmidt.

The first address was by Rev. C. F. Irwin on "Association Management." He discussed the topic in the bearings upon County District, Executive, and Field Work. It was full of instructions.

"The Principles and Methods of lesson Framing" was the subject of the interesting and inspiring address of Miss Ermina Lincoln.

"Gleamings from the International and State Conventions," proved to be the cream of the rich things of these conventions, and were ably presented by Rev's. A. M. Schmidt and G. W. McIlnay.

Rev. J. W. Boal D. D. in an address full of spirit and power presented, "The chief aim of the Sabbath School Teacher" as the convasion of the members of their class and their building up in christian character. The morning session was closed after announcements, with prayer and benediction by Rev. R. Crittenden.

Friday afternoon the convention reconvened at 1:30 o'clock and was led in devotions by Rev. Rearick of Bellefonte. The report of the committee on Resolutions was adopted. These resolutions expressed our gratification over the growing interest and influence of S. S. work in Centre Co., our thanks to Executive committee, Field workers, speakers and others who assisted in bringing about this inspiring convention, The Herald was recommended to our S. S. Workers. The pledge to State work was suggested to be $125. The thanks of the Convention was expressed to the people of Howard for their generous hospitality, to the churches for their open buildings, to the pastors, singers, entertainment committee and al others who had so kindly cared for and ministered to the needs of the Convention.

The auditing committee reported the Treasurer's accounts to be correct, recommended the plan of the past year for raising the necessary funds appropriated $125 for State work, and recommended the payment of 10 dollars as past recompense to the secretary for services rendered. The report was unanimously adopted The place of meeting for next year, the selection of delegates to the State Convention was referred to the executive committee

"The Mission of the Sabbath School" was earnestly presented by Rev. J. M. Rearick of Centre Hall. After a solo by Rev. J. A. Platts, Bellefonte; Rev. J. H. Higby of Philipsburg was introduced and in a brief felicitious address won the applause of the audience by yielding his time to Miss Lincoln. Miss Lincoln spoke in her usual entertaining and impressive manner on "The imperative need of intelligent teaching and the standard of excellence,"

Rev. J. A. Platts of Bellefonte in an address on "Bible study for Personal spiritual growth," easily won the hearts of the vast audience to the longing and purpose to seek such a knowledge of God's word as would make their lives larger, richer and deeper in Spiritual experience. The adress was replete with inspiration.

Rev. W. L. DeGroff, of Philadelphia, spoke of "Looking on the Things of Others." His address was full of missionary enthusiasm and impressed itself forcibly on all who heard it.

The closing topic for the afternoon was "Essential to the most effective S. S. Work." It was ably opened by Rev. H. I. Crow of Hublersburg, who emphasized in choice and impressive language the essentials as to Workers and Scholars. Rev. C. F. Irwin followed with essentials as to new movements, his instructive address was well received. After singing Rev. J. A. Platts pronounced the benediction.

The last session began at 7:30 p. m. and the impressive Praise and Devotional service was conducted by Rev. R. Crittenden. After a solo by Rev. C. F. Irwin the committee on enrollment reported about 175 registered delegates as having attended the convention after another solo Mr. W. L. DeGroff gave a thrilling address on "Our County as a Glorious Mission Field". The need of caring for our children in order to safeguard and perpetuate our county was forcibly presented.

Dr. W. H. Schuyler of the committee on Finance thanked the audience for their liberal offerings and the final collection was taken. After a solo by Rev. Platts, Rev. C. L. Irwin delivered an address full of thought inspiration and power on "The three Cardinal Virtues in the Successful Teacher" as presented in the 23rd Psalm. After prayer by Rev. Irwin and remarks by Pres. Gramley, Rev's Schuyler and Lathrop, Rev. E. M. Allen. the pastor of the church where the convention met, spoke the closing word. He expressed the appreciation of the rich treat the evangelistic key note of the convention and the longing that it might result in souls won to Christ. The doxology was sung and Rev. Allen pronounced the benediction. Thus closed in many respects the greatest and most representative Sabbath School Convention ever held in Centre county. In every session the Spirit of God seemed to be speaking to pastors, superintendents teachers, workers and all the great message, "God wills that you go forth to win both the children and adults of our Centre county Schools to Jesus Christ and the church." In closing this report mention should be made of the able administrative direction of President Gramley, the faithful worker of the various committees, the splendid and enthusiastic singing under direction of Mrs. W. F. Hall, the good work of Miss Susan V. Pletcher as chairman of the entertainment committee, and the hearty co-operation of Sabbath School workers and the people generally. May the influence and the echoes of this convention continue to bless the Schools of Centre county.

DECORATION DAY IN BELLEFONTE

Large Attendance of Citizens—Excellent Address by Clement Dale Esq.

Decoration day in Bellefonte was patriotically observed. From twelve o'clock all stores and business places were closed. Promptly at one o'clock the parade formed. In the line of parade were the Coleville band, the Undine and Logan fire companies between three and four hundred children from the public schools, Co. B, 5th Regiment N. G. P., veterans of the Civil War, and P. O. S. of A. organization, The line of march was up Howard street to the cemetery where the regular programme as announced was carried out, as follows: Opening ceremonies, Ode, Prayer by the Chaplain, Dirge by the band, Decoration of four graves in honor of deceased soldiers and sailors, Ode, Dirge by band, Decoration of soldiers and sailors graves. Return march to the Court House. The Court House was filled with soldiers and citizens all anxious to hear the exercies. The Coleville band discoursed some fine selections, after which James Shook in clear distinct voice delivered Lincoln's address at Gettysburg. A quartette sang some patriotic pieces, followed by the school children singing "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." Commander W. H. Musser then introduced Clement Dale, Esq., who delivered a most interesting and patriotic address. Mr. Dale was listened to with the closest attention during his entire address and when he closed the audience showed their appreciation of his effort by an enthusiastic applause, many of the old soldiers and citizens taking him by the hand and congratulating him on his excellent efforts. The attendance both in the cemetery and Court House was largest ever known. It is said to be one of the most successful decoration days ever known in Bellefonte.

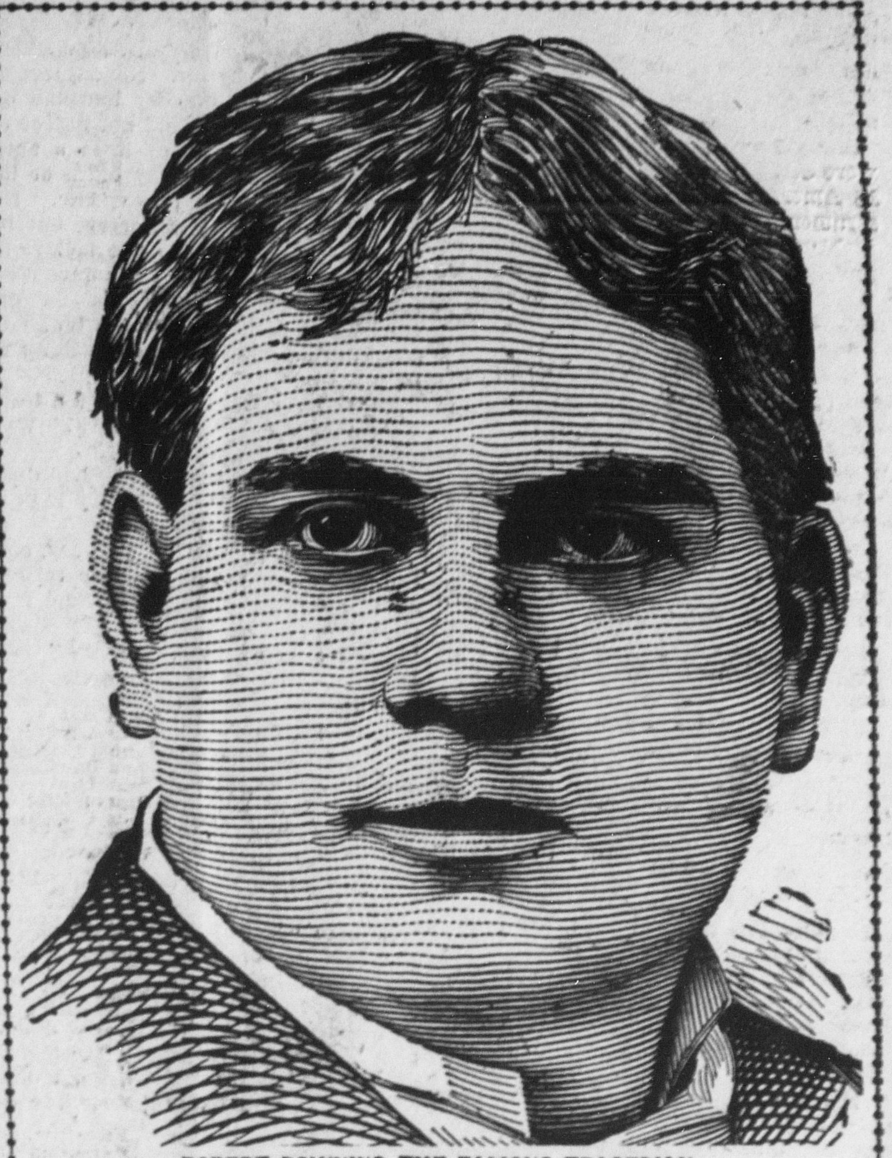
SYSTEMIC CATARRH SO LITTLE UNDERSTOOD

Claims Many Thousands. A Tragedian's Thanks to Pe-ru-na.



ROBERT DOWNING, THE FAMOUS TRAGEDIAN.

In speaking of Peruna, Robert Downing, the famous tragedian, says:

"You may notice that persons in poor health always find the heat most intolerable; this I avoid by using Peruna. I know by the thermometer that the weather is hot, yet I have felt the heat less this summer than ever.

"I find Peruna a preventative against all sudden summer ills that swoop upon one in changing climates and water. It is the finest traveling companion and safeguard against malarial influences.

"The cooling action of Peruna on the mucous membrane makes it invaluable to actors and singers, as it does away with that tendency to sudden hoarseness so apt to overtake one on emerging from a hot dressing room to a draughty stage.

"To sum it up Peruna has done me more good than any tonic I have ever taken,"--Robert Downing.

Dr. Hartman was the first physician in the United States to accurately describe systemic catarrh. His remedy, Peruna, the only systemic catarrh remedy yet devised, is now known all over the civilized world.

Grange Meeting at Centre Hall.

The prospects for a large gathering of Patrons at Centre Hall, Friday, June 15th, are most encouraging. The morning session will open promptly at 9;30 a. m.

The following officers of the State Grange will be present to conduct the ceremonies: Worthy Master, W. F. Hill; Worthy Secretary, J. T. Ailman, Worthy Chairman of the Legislative Committee, Hon. W. T. Creasy; Worthy Flora, Mrs. John Dale, and possibly several others.

The morning session will be taken up by an elaborate illustration of the local Grange degree work. The four subordinate degrees of the order will be given in full.

A free luncheon will be served in the Hall at noon, by the members of the local granges.

The afternoon session will open at 1:30 p. m. At 2 p. m: the degree of Pomona (fifth degree) will be conferred in full form by the Centre County Grange. All fourth degree members are eligible to this degree and can make application for the degree on the day of the meeting.

At 3 p. m. the degree of Flora (sixth degree) will be conferred by the officers of the State Grange, who will have charge of the ceremonies. All fourth degree members are eligible to this degree by first making application for the fifth degree

Application for the fifth and sixth degree will be received at the same time on the day of the meeting, so that this meeting will give every member of the order in the county an opportunity to take the higher degrees, of the order. It is expected that every member will, if at all possible, avail himself of the honor of these higher degree.

At 8 p. m. a public meeting will be held to which everybody is cordially invited. Addresses will be delivered by Worthy Master, Hill, Worthy Secretary Ailman, Hon. W. T. Creasy and others, with recitations and music by local talent:

A public festival will be held by Progress Grange during the day and evening, in the basement of the hall. Ice cream and refreshments will be served at all hours, and everybody is cordially invited.

THE DEAD CONGRESSMAN.

Congressman Adams, who committed suicide last week, was known throughout the country as the author of the famous "whipping post bill," so crushingly defeated some weeks ago. Now whatever may be one, personal conviction on the subject's of the whipping post as a punishment for crime of any sort, no one can deny that wife beating, for which it was to be the punishment is worthy of almost any penalty that can be devised for it. The bill had the serious endorsment of a great many serious minded people, and the President in his impulsive fashion, had given it his hearty support and said that it was a good thing and ought to be shoved along.

But for some reason or other, the House did not take kindly to it, possibly because more men vote than women, and the bill was laughed out of court. Mr. Adams felt this very keenly, though it is not supposed that it had much bearing on his suicide. But so sensitive was was he about it that one risked the loss of his friendship ever after who mentioned the whipping post in his presence. The real cause of his death was explained by him in a note to Speaker Cannon. He had become involved financially, and while he was generally regarded as a rich man, he was in reality on the rocks in money matters. He was a great society man, a well known club man, a regent of the Smithsonian Institution, and his death was not only a great surprise to everyone, but will be a cause of genuine regret. There were plenty of people abundantly able to help him if they had known he needed it.

It is estimated that 3000 cord of paper wood is ranked along the R. R. track below our town.

A Sickly looking couple came to our town Sunday afternoon, that fellow had better steer clear of Toe Hill or he will surely get what is coming to him, he says he carries a pistol with him but to look at him it would surely miss fire.

Mr. William Garbrick and wife was the guest of Thos. Smith Sunday.

Mr. Herman Fauders will erect a large barn and dwelling house on his fine farm in the near future.

We hear some of our good people cursing the scribe, well now its this (Way) he's all right in his way but he doesn't weigh enough, let [illegible] m— that's the (Way.)hi

Old Pharoah is the hum down at the park, where the boys go to spark in the evening S a d y o is the go.

Philip Spotts spent Sunday with his lady friend Miss Sarah

George is kind of solemn cooly since Sam cut him out. George you must prick up and get after her, there is just as good fish in the lake as ever was caught.

A large crowd gathered at the park Saturday evening boating and fishing is great sport, but we think it is our pretty Toe Hill girls that brings the Gatesburg sports over, isn't that it Isaac.

Some of our people are either sad or bilous, I think a good mess of Limberger Cheese and a couple Vintena liver pills would loosen them up so they would either laugh or—

Please Your Hair

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? Better please it by giving it a good hair-food—Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair stops coming out, becomes soft and smooth, and all the deep, rich color of youth comes back to gray hair.

"I was troubled greatly with dandruff until I used Ayer's Hair Vigor. It completely cured the dandruff and also stopped my hair from falling out. It serves me very nicely also in arranging my hair in any style I wish."—MISS MAGGIE COOK, Divide, W. Va.

The Borough Council.

The borough council at their meeting last Monday night appropriated $100 toward the expenses of dedication day.

In regard to the fountains on the Diamond there seems to be a split in the Water committee. Some are in favor of placing two small fountains, one at each corner of the Court house pavement. While the others contend that one large fountain placed in the centre of the Keystone between the Brockerhoff House and the bank would be the best. It seems to us the latter idea is far the better one. The fountain is certainly needed and in the summer months is a great blessing to man and beast.

The monument committee extended an invitation to the council to take part in the parade as a body. The council accepted the invitation and will wear high silk hats. The invitation included the clerk, but he shys at the high hat

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION

Surprising Statements Vouched by C. M. Parrish.

All of us who know C. M. Parrish are confident that he would make none but straightforward, honest statements, and when they tell you of the many Bellefonte people who have suffered for years with indigestion and have been cured through using Pepsikola tablets we must believe every word is true. No other remedy so quickly relieves and cures sour stomach, heartburn, coated tongue, nervousness, insomnia, debility, that run-down, tired-out feeling and every other trouble arising from poor digestion.

We continue to sell Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that you can have your 25 cents back in case you are in the least disappointed. In the face of these facts nobody should hesitate an instant to avail themselves of the opportunity to regain perfect digestion, perfect health, renewed energy, new vigor and new vitality through the use of a remedy that does not cost a penny should it fail to do all that is claimed. There is no risk to you whatever and we ask you to try it on C. M. Parrish guarantee.

AN ACCURATE LIST.

Of the Soldiers of the Revolution and the War of 1812.

Below we print an accurate list of the Revolutionary Soldiers of Centre county compiled by Mrs. Harry C. Valentine of Curtin street, after several years of patient effort to complete same, and thus the county has an invaluable contribution for the Soldiers' Monument soon to be dedicated. Without this the record for our county would have remained incomplete for all time, from sheer neglect to preserve names and data as regards two-thirds of the names contained in Mrs. Valentine's carefully compiled roster. To accomplish this the lady was obliged to enter into much research and correspondence, which perhaps no one would have undertaken without liberal recompense and a befitting acknowledgement would be proper in this instance. The descendants of Revolutionary soldiers of this county will appreciate the successful work of the lady, and to her kindness the Centre Democrate is indebted for copy for publication.

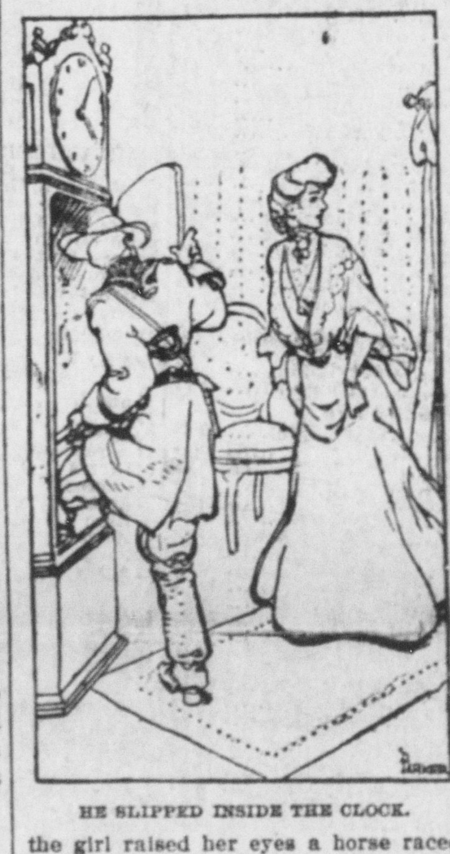
How the Raider Escaped

In the fall of 1864 the northern part of Virginia was in a great deal of excitement, for the raids of the Confederates had greatly annoyed the generals of the Union forces. At last the Federal commander determined to exterminate the rangers and, with that end in view, sent out a picked corps of mounted men, eager to meet and capture an enemy who boasted that he could not be taken. It was early in the morning of a warm September day when the men in blue found their quarry, coming on them suddenly at the foot of a hill.

For a moment there was a brisk rain of bullets. Several of the men on both sides threw up their arms and fell in the dust, while their foaming, riderless steeds dashed madly down the pike. Then the Confederates broke and fled, with the yelling Yankees close at their heels.

At last a stream was reached, and here the Union men succeeded in capturing several Confederates, but not the leader. He was a small, wiry man, with a frame as strong and tough as steel, one who did not know what fear or defeat meant, and he plunged his animal into the water, lifted his sword high above his head and safely climbed up the opposite bank amid a shower of bullets, accompanied by a shout of admiration from the astonished enemy. In a moment he was out of sight behind the hills.

About a quarter of a mile down the road was a farmhouse, in the sitting room of which a girl sat peeling fruit. The door was open, and just as the girl raised her eyes a horse raced into the yard, with its flanks reeking with water and the rider wet from the tip of his plumed hat to the soles of his cavalry boots.



HE SLIPPED INSIDE THE CLOCK.

The man rode into the barnyard and left his steed in the stall, then ran into the house. At that moment the head of the Federal column came over the hill on the gallop. The Confederate saw the line of blue uniforms, the sun flashing on the sabers, and with a hurried glance around he sprang to his feet and ran to the corner, in which stood an old "grandfather's clock." In a moment he had opened the door and slipped inside, and by the time he had closed it again the Union men were trooping into the house.

They began a thorough search of the house from garret to cellar, but not a trace of the man could they find. The beds were torn to bits, the pantries explored, every closet upset and no nook or corner of the place left uninvestigated, but to no purpose. Then the barn was given a good overhauling, and, though they found the wet and saddled horse, there was no trace of the rider. At last all the Union men collected in the sitting room where the young lady sat quietly watching the proceedings and still busy in her household duty of preparing the fruit. They were nonplused and could not imagine what had become of the [illegible]

Now, it happened that the old clock was not running, but had been broken for some time and was full of dust, which the entrance of the ranger had disturbed. In fact, he was in a great predicament. The dust had filled his nostrils, and he felt creep over him the horrible sensation of a coming sneeze. A sneeze meant capture, perhaps death, but the sneeze had to come.

A bright thought flashed into the Confederate's mind, and with a quick motion of his hand he set the old wheels in a whirl, and the rusty gong sounded a sonorous chime. In the cover of the noise the sneeze was born, but it was not heard. However, the sudden waking of the old clock excited [illegible] quiry, the federal officer moved toward it. The girl was quick to take in the situation. With a fretful air she exclaimed:

"There goes that old clock again. It must really be fixed, for it is so annoying." And the officer, changing his mind, took no more notice of the occurrence. In a few moments the house was deserted and the troops had passed away in the direction of their camps, leaving the rebel to come out from his hiding place a sight to behold. The wet clothes were full of dust and his face gray with the water and mud which covered it, but he was a very [illegible] among his remaining troops.—Kansas City Journal.

Lunatics Used as Horses.

A regular slave mart still exists in many country districts of Finland. Once a year such paupers, lunatics and aged people of each parish as cannot support themselves are put up at public auction and consigned to those farmers or families who will board them at the lowest price offered by the parish authorities. The helpless creatures are made to work as much as possible by their owners, who have the right to chastise them and are generally most inhuman in their treatment. Lunatics have been used even as cart horses.

Warming Up.

A fond mother, hearing an unusual noise in the nursery overhead, hurried upstairs to find out what was the matter.

She found Johnny sitting in the middle of the floor quietly smiling.

"Oh," said he, "I've locked grandpa and Uncle Henry in the cupboard, and when they get a little angrier I am going to play Daniel in the lion's den."—Ladies' Home Journal.

CURE OF INSOMNIA.

The soporific powers of warm milk are well known, but care should be taken that the milk does not quite boil.

A Swedish method of producing sleep is to wring out a handkerchief in icy cold water and lay it across the eyes, when it is said to act like magic.

To many constitutions a warm bath taken immediately before going to bed is very soothing and produces drowsiness, while an apple eaten as the last thing is equally effective.

The homely boiled onion is another sovereign remedy, or an onion may be sliced and eaten raw, the disagreeable taste being removed by taking a little sugar or a pinch of tea afterward.

A Hindoo practice to induce sleep is to take deep inhalations, expelling the air alternately through each nostril, keeping the other closed with the finger. This has a wonderfully quieting effect.

What a Letter Will Do.

A proofreader, anent the importance of trifles, read from his notebook these absurd sentences, each made by the omission of a single letter:

"The conflict was dreadful and the enemy was repulsed with great laughter.

"When the president's wife entered the humble sitting room of the miner she was politely offered a hair.

"A man was yesterday arrested on the charge of having eaten a cabman for demanding more than his fare.

"An employee in the service of the government was accused of having stolen a small ox from the mail. The stolen property was found in his vest pocket."

Observation.

An observant man in all his intercourse with society and the world constantly and unperceived marks on every person and thing the figure expressive of its value and, therefore, on meeting that person or thing, knows instantly what kind and degree of attention to give it. This is to make something of experience.—John Foster.

Tamed Poetry.

"I wish to submit a lyric, sir," said the timid young man. "My friends say it's a beauty—really sings itself."

"Humph!" said the cold hearted editor. "We couldn't use a poem like that. We want one that, once printed, will remain perfectly quiet and not keep our readers awake by singing itself at all times."

The true strength of every human soul is to be dependent on as many nobler as it can discern and to be depended upon by as many inferior as it can reach.

Sad Story.

Kind Lady—Do you mean to tell me that reading Shakespeare brought you to prison? What works did you read? No. 411—"Romeo an' Juliet," mum. Kind Lady—But what evil influence could that have on you? No. 411—Why, it learned me to be a porch climber, mum.—Puck.

Mistaken Identity.

"I just dropped in again today," said the lady, "to see those lovely sideboards you had last week"—

"Not me, ma'am," replied the callow furniture salesman. "I ain't never been able to raise even a mustache."—Philadelphia Press.

[illegible]

Among the dead of one of the battlefields before Richmond was a young Confederate soldier who lay unburied several days after the conflict. Already the flesh had been eaten by worms from his fingers, but underneath one skeleton hand lay an open Bible, the fingers pressed upon these words of the Twenty-third Psalm: "Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

ASSUMING A VIRTUE.

What Can Be Done by Right Thinking and Self Control.

Zopyrus, the physiognomist, said, "Socrates' features showed that he was stupid, brutal, sensual and addicted to drunkenness." Socrates upheld the analysis by saying, "By nature I am addicted to all these sins, and they were only restrained and vanquished by the continual practice of virtue."

Emerson says in effect, "The virtue you would like to have, assume it as already yours, appropriate it, enter into the part and live the character just as the great actor is absorbed in the character of the part he plays." No matter how great your weakness or how much you may regret it, assume steadily and persistently its opposite until you acquire the habit of holding that thought or of living the thing not in its weakness, but in its wholeness, in its entirety. Hold the ideal of an efficient faculty or quality, not of a marred or deficient one. The way to reach or to attain to anything is to bend oneself toward it with all one's might, and we approximate it just in proportion to the intensity and the persistency of our effort to attain it.

If you are inclined to be very excitable and nervous, if you "fly all to pieces" over the least annoyance, do not waste your time regretting this weakness and telling everybody that you cannot help it. Just assume the calm, deliberate, quiet, balanced composure which characterizes your ideal person in that respect. Persuade yourself that you are not nervous or excitable, that you can control yourself, that you are well balanced, that you do not fly off on a tangent at every little annoyance. You will be amazed to see how the perpetual holding of this serene, calm, quiet attitude will help you to become like your thought.—Success.

Modifying the Risk.

Parson Bagster (solemnly)—Does yo', Claud Kinsabby, take dis yuh lady, Miss Gladys Poots, to be yo' lawful wedded wife, for bettah and for wuss? The Groom (uneasily and hazily)—Uh cou'se I does if I has to, sah, but ain't dar some way of takin' her kindah on an ave'age?—Puck.

Unreasonable.

"My husband," said a young wife, "is a very unreasonable man!"

"In what way?" asked a friend.

"He expects me to live on nothing and save half."

Where They Met.

Angry Wife (after a quarrel)—Seems to me we've been married about a hundred years. I can't even remember when or where we first met. Husband (emphatically)—I can. It was at a dinner party, and there were thirteen at table.—London Tit-Bits

Observance of the Sabbath.

There was the minister of Tweedsmuir who on a certain Sabbath found a salmon stranded in shallow water and who, being unable conscientiously to take it out on such a day, built a hedge of stones around it and, returning on the morrow, claimed his prize. There was the old farmer who could not go to the kirk because he had neglected to shave on the Saturday night, and he would not profane the day by the use of any edged tool.—Macmillan's Magazine.

A True Fish Story.

Here is a fish story told by a British nobleman: An Irishman had caught a big pike. Noting a lump in its stomach, he cut it open. "As I cut it open there was a mighty rush and a flapping of wings, and away flew a wild duck, and when I looked inside there was a nest, with four eggs, and she had been afther sitting on that nest."

Shocking Precocity.

"What is the result," asked the teacher of the primary class in arithmetic, "when you put two and two together?"

"A kith," lisped the curly headed little girl in the front row.—Chicago Tribune.

Suited Him.

His Wife—Yes, the girl is going to leave. She is lazy and good for nothing anyhow. The Professor—Why, I thought she was a model servant. She never attempted to arrange my papers.—Brooklyn Life.

INSECT ENGINEERING

FEATS OF THE CARPENTER BEE AND THE TUMBLEBUG.

The Sexton Beetle Is an Expert Gravedigger—Wonderful Skill of the Spider and the Great Strain That His Elastic Web Will Bear.

Long before man had thought of the saw the saw fly had used the same tool, made after the same fashion and used in the same way, for the purpose of making slits in the branches of trees so that she might have a secure place to deposit her eggs. The carpenter bee, with only the tools which nature has given her, cuts a round hole, the full diameter of her body, through thick boards and so makes a tunnel by which she can have a safe retreat in which to rear her young. The tumblebug, without derrick or machinery, rolls over large masses of dirt many times her own weight, and the sexton beetle will in a few hours bury beneath the ground the carcass of a comparatively large animal. All these feats require a degree of instinct which in a reasoning creature would be called engineering skill, but none of them is as wonderful as the feats performed by the spider. This extraordinary little animal has the faculty of propelling her threads directly against the wind, and by means of her slender cords she can haul up and suspend bodies which are many times her own weight.

Some years ago a paragraph went the rounds of the papers in which it was said that a spider had suspended an unfortunate mouse, raising it from the ground and leaving it to perish miserably between heaven and earth. Would be philosophers made great fun of the statement and ridiculed it unmercifully. I know not how true it was, but I know that it might have been true.

Some years ago in the village of Havana in the state of New York a spider entangled a milk snake in her threads and actually raised it some distance from the ground, and this, too, in spite of the struggles of the reptile, which was alive.

By what process of engineering did this comparatively small and feeble insect succeed in overcoming and lifting up by mechanical means the mouse or the snake? The solution is easy enough if we only give the question a little thought.

The spider is furnished with one of the most efficient mechanical implements known to engineers—viz, a strong elastic thread. That the thread is strong is well known. Indeed, there are few substances that will support a greater strain than the silk of the silkworm or the spider, careful experiment having shown that for equal sizes the strength of these fibers exceeds that of common iron. But notwithstanding its strength the spider's thread would be useless as a mechanical power if it were not for its elasticity. The spider has no blocks or pulleys, and therefore it cannot cause the thread to divide up and run in different directions, but the elasticity of the thread more than makes up for this and renders possible the lifting of an animal much heavier than a mouse or a snake. This may require a little explanation.

Let us suppose that a child can lift a six pound weight one foot high and do this twenty times a minute. Furnish him with 350 rubber bands, each capable of pulling six pounds through one foot when stretched. Let these bands be attached to a wooden platform on which stands a pair of horses weighing 2,100 pounds, or rather more than a ton. If now the child will go to work and stretch these rubber bands singly, hooking each one up as it is stretched, in less than twenty minutes he will have raised the pair of horses one foot.

We thus see that the elasticity of the rubber bands enables the child to divide the weight of horses into 350 pieces of six pounds each, and, at the rate of a little less than one every three seconds, he lifts all these separate pieces one foot, so that the child easily lifts this enormous weight.

Each spider's thread acts like one of the elastic rubber bands. Let us suppose that the mouse or snake weighed half an ounce and that each thread is capable of supporting a grain and a half. The spider would have to connect the mouse with the point from which it was to be suspended with 150 threads, and if the little quadruped was once swung off his feet he would be powerless. By pulling successively on each thread, and shortening it a little, the mouse or snake might be raised to any height within the capacity of the building or structure in which the work was done. So that to those who have ridiculed the story we may justly say, "There are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamed of in your philosophy."

What object the spider could have had in his work I am unable to see. It may have been a dread of the harm which the mouse or snake might work or it may have been the hope that the decaying carcass would attract flies, which would furnish food for the engineer. I can vouch for the truth of the snake story, however, and the object of this article is to explain and render credible a very extraordinary feat of insect engineering.—Follies of Science.

Memorial Services at Snydertown and Elsewhere.

As by arrangement a number of members of Post 95 of Bellefonte and 261 of Milesburg visited Snydertown on Saturday May 26th 1906, and held services in the cemetery in commemoration of the dead soldiers buried there, quite a number of the good people of the town and vicinity turned out to show their appreciation of the coming of the G. A. R. men to attend to that duty.

Services in the cemetery were led by Col. Austin Curtin of post 261, he was assisted by Comrades Emmenhiser, Bathurst and Romick, Rev. Fleck acting as chaplin, comrade Al. Roberts the old war drummer making the music on his old war drum. Mrs. Kate Allison read the address of Mr. Lincoln very nicely, the march was then taken to the church where after a selection by the excellent choir of the church, Rev. Fleck, pastor of the Lutheran church made a prayer after another selection by the choir Col. Curtin in a few remarks then introduced comrade Fortunately Bellefonte, who made a most instructive and earnest address touching on the significance of the day and other matters in connection with our great country.

The Sunday school was out in quite large numbers under leadership of Supt. John H. Beck and two of the scholars one Miss Mechley reading a very appropriate poem the other Miss Dorman, reciting a very patriotic piece, they were well delivered, after several more selections by the choir the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Fleck, soon as dismissed all the visiting comrades were invited to partake of the hospitality of the people of the town and being bountifully refreshed and horses fed, the line of march was taken at 1.30 p. m. for Hublersburg 3 miles west, the parade formed there and following the old drummer marched to the cemetery north of the town where a goodly number of the citizens were in waiting. The flags being placed on the graves the ceremonies began at once under the direction of comrade W. H. Musser, Com. of post 95 assisted by comrades Curtin, Fortney, Bathurst and Emmenhiser. Miss Whitman in full voice and manner recited Mr. Lincolns address. The flowers were then placed on the ten graves of old soldiers buried there and the comrades and people then repaired to the Evangelical church in the town where the very efficient choir of the church rendered an excellent selection. Rev. Crow of the Reformed church of Hublersburg offered a very impressive prayer. Col. Curtin introduced the Rev. J. B. Stein pastor of the Methodist church in Bellefonte who delivered one of the finest orations suitable for the occasion that had ever been heard by any of those present, while it had much poetry in it, it was a poem in itself, after other selections by the choir such as the Star Spangled banner and America and an expression of thanks from the chairman to all concerned in assisting to make the day and services a success, the Rev. Crow pronounced the benediction the audience being dismissed the visiting comrades started for Zion 4 miles further west where the last services of the day were to be held. On arriving there at 4.30 p. m. the citizens and Sunday school out in full force were found waiting.

The flags were placed and the roll of the drum beating the services were begun at once under the leadership of comrade Curtin assisted by those before mentioned with the addition of the Rev Piper of the Methodist church of Milesburg acting as chaplin, he had come from there and was in waiting when the comrades arrived at the proper time, during the services Miss Annie Rockey of near Zion was brought forward by the Supt. of Sunday school Mr. Musser and recited in a beautiful strong voice so as to be heard by all present, Mr. Lincolns memorable address delivered at Gettysburg at the dedication there of the cemetery on Nov. 19th 1863, the services as required by the G. A. R. ritual being concluded. The Rev. Piper was introduced and made a beautiful and touching address suitable to the occasion.

The line of march was then taken for home. This ended a pleasant day in performance of a duty owed to fallen comrades. Snydertown 9 Hublersburg 11 Zion 10 graves.

Travelling Is Dangerous

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travellers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. E. Hausan, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes: "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

ELECTRIC CAR OVERTURNED!

Five Score of Young Men and Woman in it.

ELEVEN PERSONS DEAD

About Twenty Were Seriously Injured Many More Were Slightly Injured—List of the Dead.

CAR CAME DOWN BIG GRADE

Providence, R. I., 4th.—Eleven persons are dead a score seriously and many others slightly injured as the result of the overturning of a crowded electric car at Moore's Corner in East Providence early this morning. More than 100 young men and women, who had spent the evening at Crescent Park, a pleasure resort on the Providence river, six miles below this city were on a chartered car returning to their homes in this city, Olneyville and Thornton. It is believed that two of the injured will die.

The dead are: George Atcherson, 20 years, Thornton; Edward F. Brennan, 18 years old, Cranston, R. I.; Alice Franklin, 17 years, Thornton; Indico Gamboi, 23 years. Thornton; John Gavin. 20 years, Providence; Angelo Germain, 30 years, Thornton; Gustave Guertin, 25 years, Olneyville; William W. Luther, 27 years, Providence; Bertha M. Kelley, 18 years, Thornton; John Schneider, 19 years; Olneyville; Ethel Whitley, 19 years, Providence.

The car came down a heavy grade at a rapid rate of speed, and striking a curve, shot from the rails and was overturned. The car left the rails with such force that the trucks left the body and jumped more than twenty feet from the track.

Most of those killed or seriously injured were pinioned beneath the car.

stops the cough and heals lungs

THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctors dosed me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough "cures"? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18.

KEEP THE KIDNYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some People Know How to Save. It.

Many Bellefonte people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill-health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

W. R. Camp, of the firm of Kirk-Camp Furniture Co., Logan Ave. and 14th St., Tyrone, Pa., says: "Experience has taught me that Doan's Kidney Pills is an excellent remedy and one that strictly fulfills its promises. In the fall of 1897 I gave for publication in our local papers a statement covering my experience with this remedy and recommending it to others, and now in the month of June, 1904, I just as enthusiastically recommend it as I did at that time. Doan's kidney pills completely relieved me of an aching in the small of my back and lameness through the loins due to kidney trouble. We always keep this preparation in the house for use in case of need, and it has never failed to give splendid satisfaction. I heartily endorse it.

How Scores of Bellefonte People Obtain Relief.

If it really were known how many Bellefonte residents have been cured of stomach trouble and digestion by Dr. Davis' Prescription, it might perhaps surprise you, but what is more surprising is the fact that any one will continue to suffer with heart burn, sour stomach water brash, sick headache, mental depression, nausea, and other distressing symptoms of dyspepsia when there is a remedy of such great merit that it almost invariably benefits every one that tries it. Pepsicola Tablets are the prescription of Dr. Davis, a physician who devoted a lifetime to the study of stomach trouble, and if your food does not agree with you, if you are tired, nervous, worn out, low spirited and your energy at low par, it may interest you to know that no other prescription in this world has a greater record of cures behind it, and there is nothing more certain to give you relief. Mr. C. M. Parrish will tell you that although Pepsikola is sold on the fairest kind of a money-back plan, not more than two in one hundred ever come back for their money. This is the surest evidence of its marvelous curative properties, but so that there may not be the least doubt in your mind as to what Pepsikola will do for you Mr. Parrish will hand your quarter right back to you if you should fail to receive the benefit you look for.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—For a brief time on Tuesday the Curtin statue was uncovered so that a number of pictures might be taken.

—A handsome new flag was flung to the breeze on Memorial Day in front of the Y. M. C. A., on High street.

—The speakers platforms are being erected in the Diamond for Dedication Day. Henry Lowry is the contractor.

—Mrs. James Lane has leased the half of Mrs. J. P. Gepharts house on Allegheny street and will move there about the middle of June.

—Hallie Jacobs and Alex Truitt defeated J. R. Hughes and Oakley Pantall in the tennis finals at the Academy Monday by the score of 6-2-0-6 6-1

—Hon. P. W. Green, of Emporium, has been appointed President Judge of the 25th Judicial district to succeed the Hon. C. A. Mayer of Lock Haven.

—"What did your wife do when she found that you had paid your creditor with her dowry?" "Do? Why, she divorced me and married the creditor.

—The Schaeffer—Hazel family reunion will be held at Hecla Park on Thursday June 21st. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all the friends and relatives of these families.

—She was ready to sink through the floor. She did not speak, but he had only to look into her great, shy eyes to divine her mind. Going down!" he yelled, accordingly, to the elevator boy.

—Mable Confer, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Confer, of Yarnell, died on Monday of diphtheria. Owing to the contagious character of the disease burial was made on Tuesday.

—The hard coal famine which Bellefonte has been suffering under so long is broken at last. Edward K. Rhoads has on hand at his yard in this place chestnut and pea coal enough to supply any demands likely to be made on him.

—The thought that "no one cares and no one knows" blights many a bud of promise. Be it the young artist at the easel, the workman at his bench, the boy at his mathematical problems or your little girl at the piano, give what praise you can.

—Provide the poultry house with perches, dust boxes, lime, gravel, broken oyster shells and ground or broken bone. Clean out regularly and spread over the floor and especially under the roosts, a layer of dry earth as an absorbent and deodorizer

—It is only duty and justice to encourage your home paper, extend to it the nourishment to which it is entitled. Pay your subscriptions promptly, and send a few extra copies to your relatives and friends at a distance. They will appreciate the favor and so will we.

—When planting trees and shrubs on the lawn for permanent growth, keep in mind the habit of the trees. Make the tops smaller than the roots of trees that are transplanted, Remove all broken roots when the trees are set. Cut broken parts off with a sharp knife.

—County Commissioner Calvin Weaver has a rare coin of which he is justly proud. It is a Russian coin dated 1310. It is of the same denomination as our 2 cent piece. When you think that it was coined 182 years before Columbus discovered America you can have some idea of its value as a relic.

—Cards are out announcing the wedding of Donald Sommerville Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Potter, of Bellefonte, and Miss Annie Kathleen Price of Crafton, near Pittsburg. The date is June 14th at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of the bride. The best man will be Wallace Gephart of Bellefonte, superintendent of the Central Railroad of Pa.

—Mrs. F. K. Lukenbach Friday submitted to an operation for appendicitis at her home on Lincoln avenue, Tyrone: The operation was skillfully performed by Dr. John B. Nason, assisted by Dr. W. A. Nason, of Roaring Spring, and it was thoroughly successful. Mrs. Lukenbach went through the ordeal with great fortitude and her condition since is considered most favorable.

—We are pleased to see so many of our citizens taking pride in their homes. The word "home," next to that of "mother," is the greatest ever uttered by human tongue. What a refuge the home is when the darkness gathers! How glad one is to get a glimpse of home when time and space have separated him from it even but for a brief period! There seems to be a good natured rivalry here in an effort to make our "home" look a little neater and thus be the more inviting to the occupants than all others. Such rivalry is certainly pardonable.

—Several picnic parties spent Decoration Day at Hecla Park.

—Gov. A. G. Curtin's statue should be on every mantle in Penna. At the Imperial.

—The Central Railroad of Pennsylvania took possession of their new passenger station Friday.

—The story that 8 hundred school children from Williamsport would attend the dedication here is a hoax.

—Miss Mary E. Kelly who for several years past has been connected with the Daily News and Republican has severed her connection with the same.

—The Bellefonte Browns defeated the Scotia nine at base ball Memorial Day in the afternoon. The score was 7 to 3 and the game was played at Meadowbrooke Park.

—Owing to the dedication of the Curtin Monument on June 8th. all the banks will be closed at 11 o'clock a. m., persons having business with the banks are requested to attend to same as soon as possible after the opening hours.

—The Y. M. C. A. is planning for a Field Day on Saturday June, 30th. at the Fair Grounds. All members both Senior and Junior are requested to participated and make this a big day. There will be special prizes for the members securing the most number of points. So start training now.

Bantams are usually raised more for ornament than for use, and as small size is one of their principal charms, care should be taken not to set the eggs to hatch too early. As they feather early, the first of April is a better season for hatching these little pets than the first of June —The Memorial Day services at Spring Mills this year were better than ever before in any previous year. They were held in the Evangelical church and the old veterans marched into the church to the echo of the organ. The floral decorations both at church and cemetery were very beautiful. The address which was an excellent one was delivered to a large audience by Robert Haney.

—There are two kinds of girls in the world, the girl who works and the girl who gads. Work lends dignity to a pretty girl, is an added charm to her. The girl who works combines the useful and ornamental. She might gad about, roll on sofas, gossip and read story books, but she prefers to be of some use in the world and goes out as stenographer, teacher, saleslady or housekeeper bravely makes her own way.

—About the neatest thing ~~in the~~ souvenir line, commorative of the coming Dedication is a "Souvenir Letter" which are now on sale at Bush's Stationery store. The letter contains eight views of scenes about Bellefonte including the monument and a picture of Curtin. It sells for 10 cents and would be something nice to send your friends at a distance.

—Ye old town is beginning to awaken to the realization of the big time in store for it when the Curtin Monument is Friday. Several firms of enterprising decorators are at work soliciting patronage. The Garman House was the first to put on a gala appearance as that popular hostelry was decorated Friday afternoon in handsome style. The Court House is being decorated as well as other buildings.

—Centre County Pomona Grange will hold a special meeting at Centre Hall on Friday June 15th, 9.30 A. M. confering of 5th degree at 1 P. M. Officers of Penna., State Grange will confer the 6th degree at 3 P. M. A public meeting will be held at 7.30 P. M. addressed by W. F. Hill, Master of State Grange, Hon. W. T. Creasy, State secretary Allman and Mortimer Whitehead of New Jersey. All patrons are invited to come, and the public is cordially invited to attend the evening meeting.

D. M. CAMPBELL,
Secretary.

Death of George W. Kaup

Friday morning at five o'clock after an illness of more than a month, Mr. George W. Kaup died. For over 28 years Mr. Kaup had been superintendent and manager of the Humes farm lying about 1 mile east of Bellefonte, of these 28 years of faithful service, 17 were during the life time of the late E. C. Humes, the remaining 11 years were under the ownership of Wm. P. Humes.

Mr. Kaup was born at Oak Hall, March 3, 1849. He was married to Miss Rebecca Alice Dorman on Nov. 4, 1875. Four children were born of this union, John, Sarah, Vergie and Edward, the latter having died in infancy. After the death of his first wife, Mr. Kaup married the second time choosing as his helpmate Mrs. Sarah M. Potter. She too preceded him to the spirit world, having died about one year ago. In the death of Mr. Kaup the community has lost a good and upright citizen. He was one of the men always to be trusted.

The funeral services were held at his late home, "Fernhurst" more generally known as the Humes farm 1 mile east of Bellefonte, along the Lewistown pike Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The burial took place Monday at Mt. Bethel, Clinton Co., the funeral leaving the house at 8 a. m. The services were conducted by the Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt.

MRS. M. W. COWDRICK.

Died at Her Home in Niagara Falls Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Morris W. Cowdrick, formerly of Bellefonte but late of Niagara Falls, died at her home in that place on Tuesday afternoon May 29th after an illness of about one month. Her death was due to a complication of diseases.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Miss Mary Ruffhead, was the daughter of Joseph Ruffhead and was born in Jersey Shore March 21, 1839 making her age just 67 years 2 months and 8 days. She was married when quite young to Morris W. Cowdrick the well known brick manufacturer and contractor of Bellefonte. For many years they resided here but finally moved to Niagara Falls where they have resided ever since.

She is survived by her husband, M. W. Cowdrick and the following children: William, Edward and Mrs. Mabel Romizer, of Niagara Falls; Paxton and Mrs. Arvilla Otto of Bellefonte; and Mrs. Al S. Garman, of Tyrone.

The remains of Mrs. M. W. Cowdrick who died at Niagara Falls Tuesday arrived in Bellefonte Thursday afternoon and were taken to the home of her son, Paxton, on Penn street. Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock the funeral services were held from the Methodist church, of which deceased was a faithful member for many years. Mrs. Cowdrick was one of the most lovable women that one could wish to meet, hence, it is no wonder that her friends in Bellefonte, where she was known so, numbered a legion. There was a large attendance at the funeral everyone anxious ta pay a last loving tribute to this lovely christian character.

The services were conducted by her pastor and friend, Rev. J. Ford Leffler, of Niagara Falls, assisted by Rev. James B. Stein, pastor of the church at this place. Rev. Leffler who was very intimate with the Cowdrick family for several years past, preached a beautiful and touching sermon. It contained words of comfort for those behind and spoke of the many lovely traits of character the deceased possessed. Several selections were rendered by the choir and after an earnest prayer by Rev. Stein, the funeral cortege proceeded to the Union cemetery where the interment was

The casket bearers were Messers P. M. Roemeiser, M. H. Otto, H. D. Otto, W. S. Cowdrick, C. E. Cowdrick and T. P. Cowdrick.

The honorary pall-bearers were W. I. Fleming, J. F. Smith, W. T. Twitmire, Levi Whippo, S. A. Bell, and C. C. Shuey.

The Memorial Day Orator at Salona.

From the Clinton Democrat, Lock Haven, Pa., in reference to Decoration Day exercises at Cedar Hill cemetery, near Salona.

"The Memorial address by W. Harrison Walker Esq., of Bellefonte Pa., was one of the best ever delivered on an occasion of this kind. His remarks were listened to with the closest attention and many compliments were passed on the merits of his address."

Lyons—Barger

Miss Clara Barger, of Roland, and Clarence Lyons, of Bellefonte, were united in marriage Tuesday evening, May 29th, at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in Howard, by the Rev. E. M. Aller. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. and Lyons unite in wishing them a happy and successful voyage over life's sea.

William Curtin Noll.

William Curtin Noll died very suddenly at his late residence at Madisonburg on May 29th., death was due to neuralgia of the heart and he was sick only one day. His complaint was not considered fatal at all. He followed his occupation as black-smith up to within a day of his death, and died in the midst of a great rush of business, leaving much unfinished work. He was married twice, three children, namely, James and Mrs. Faust, of Jeannette, and Mrs. Struble, of Bellefonte, of his first marriage survive him together with his widow and four sons, Harry H. blacksmith at Hublersburg; John E. A., miller at Rebersburg, George T., a farmer at Brookston; and B. L. at home, father, mother and three sons have preceeded his death. Two brothers, W. T. of Jeanette and A. G. of Pleasant Gap also mourn the loss of their brother.

He was a member of the Lutheran church and filled the office of deacon at the time of his death, having been repeatedly elected to this office and that of elder. Deceased was a quiet unassuming and passive citizen, who will be greatly mourned for by the entire community. For none in want came to him, but were sent on their way rejoicing. A kind word for all, malice for none.

Mr. Noll came to Madisonburg some thirty years ago and resided there most of the time since. He built up a business and confidence duplicated by favor, and excelled by none, which he always appreciated and respected by honest work and fair dealings, together with the hard toil our subject was given to, he was an extensive reader, and was well read on all subjects of the day and a great admirer of the truths given by science and fiction, always busy when not with the hammer with the craving pursuit after facts and truths. He knew the value of an education which is clearly shown by the sacrifice he made to give those who depended upon him the best education it was possible for him to give.

Surely none would despise the highest tribute paid to such an honest well spent life as the deceased has given this community the vacancy incurred by his death can never be filled in the community. All men and creatures with whom he came in contact showed alike the kindness and regard of a noble man. Deceased was born July 15, 1849, leaving his age 57 yrs, 10mo, and 14days. His remains were interred in their last resting place in the Evangelical cemetery in the family plot, on Saturday morning June 2. funeral services were held in the Lutheran church at 10 o'clock officiated by Rev. B. C. Bixler, deceases pastor, and a very suitable and impressive sermon was delivered.

Alumni Reception.

Tuesday evening was signalized by the annual Alumni Reception and dance to the graduating class of the High School. About 9.15 the members of the Faculty and class were marshalled in a line which extended nearly across the Armory For fifteen or twenty minutes there was an animated and happy scene as each in turn received the warm grasp of good-fellowship and encouragement.

The present graduating class is the largest in the history of the High School, and certainly presented a fine and intellectual appearance during this important part of the evening's programme. The Armory was most artistically decorated with flags of every sort and description, fairly rivaling the decorations to be seen on any of our large business houses The music for the evening was furnished by Christy Smith's celebrated orchestra, so that it is needless to say the dancing was a great success. During the evening a very inviting supper was partaken of by the graduating class, the event of which was the cutting of the gigantic class cake. This delicate and elaborate operation was performed by the recipient of first honors, Miss Sara McClure. A diversion and pleasant surprise was caused by the finding of a very artistic gold scarf-pin by Miss McClure, and a silver thimble by Mr. John Smith, which it is hoped will prove of great aid to him in his solitary existence in the years to come. Very delicious ice-cream and cake was served to the many guests who thronged the building. The festivities extended into the wee sma' hours, when the guests departed for their homes to remember for days to come the delight which has caused this event to be looked forward to with the greatest anticipation.

HAND CUT OFF.

Melvin Mincer of Howard, Injured in Saw Mill.

A very sad accident occurred at a saw mill just back of Howard Friday. The unhappy victim was Melvin Mincer, a young man eighteen years of age. Melvin had just secured a job at the saw mill and had been at work about a half an hour when his left hand caught in the circular saw and was cut off. The men employed there hurried the young man to the office of Dr. Kurtz at Howard. The doctor stopped the flow of blood and then brought him to Bellefonte on the 1:05 train Friday and he was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital for treatment.
